PORTFOLIO

Despite a challenging start, European stocks ended August on a positive note, supported by the imminent prospect of an interest rate cut in the United States.

The Better Life theme particularly stood out this month, recording the best performance among the various themes: Swedish Orphan surged by nearly 17% after a report that exceeded expectations and encouraging news about the phase 3 Valiant study. This stock was also strengthened at the beginning of the month. The positive report from Technogym was also well received.

On the other hand, the Smart Resources theme declined this month: the most cyclical stocks, such as Wienerberger, which slightly revised its EBITDA forecast downwards, showed negative performances. Despite a mixed report, Carel regained ground this month, buoyed by hopes of a market recovery in the second half of the year.

The Lifestyle theme was penalized by Puma's decline, despite a report that was nearly in line with expectations and a particularly low valuation. Finally, in the Digital Impact theme, QT stood out thanks to a very strong report, both in terms of sales and margins.

FOCUS: SOBI

THEME:

sobi An international biopharmaceutical company specializing in rare diseases, Sobi had to delay a takeover bid in 2018 due to the refusal of one of its partners, forcing its management to reinvent the company.

They implemented a clear strategy focused on two therapeutic areas: hematology and immunology, prioritizing co-development over an internal R&D effort that was facing difficulties. Today, Sobi is benefiting from its close collaboration with Sanofi, partnering on high-growth products such as Beyfortus for bronchiolitis and Altuvio, which stands out for its low bleeding rates in severe hemophilia patients.

Royalties from the U.S. distribution of its products allow Sobi to maintain margins above 30%.

Although the acquisition of Vonjo in myelofibrosis was costly, it enabled the company to invest in a business with strong growth prospects. The excellent clinical results of its partner Apellis in kidney diseases (68% reduction in urinary protein levels) and the expected results in gout treatment should continue to support this momentum. Thanks to its size and targeted focus, the group is well-positioned to attract the best products in the specialties it has chosen.
